

35th OSAC Annual Briefing

Julie S. Cabus

Acting Assistant Director |
Diplomatic Security Service |
Department of State

Julie S. Cabus is the Acting Assistant Director for the Threat Investigations and Analysis Directorate (DS/TIA), and the Deputy Assistant Director for the Office of Intelligence and Threat Analysis (DS/TIA/ITA). In this capacity, she oversees the Diplomatic Security programs that analyze, assess, generate, investigate, and disseminate information on threats directed against U.S. diplomatic personnel overseas and domestically.

Ms. Cabus joined the United States Department of State, Bureau of Diplomatic Security, Diplomatic Security Service in March 1999. Ms. Cabus served overseas at the following Diplomatic Missions; Assistant Regional Security Officer, Kinshasa, DRSC, Regional Security Officer, Niamey, Niger, Regional Security Officer, Peshawar, Pakistan, Regional Security Officer, Algiers, Algeria, Senior Regional Security Officer, United States Mission to Australia, Canberra, Australia, Deputy Regional Security Officer, Kabul, Afghanistan, and Senior Regional Security Officer, United States Mission to Iraq. In addition to her overseas assignments, Ms. Cabus served in the Diplomatic Security Service Washington Field Office, Bureau Security Officer, Office of the Secretary of State, and as Division Chief for Defensive Equipment and Armored Vehicles, Dignitary Protection, and Worldwide Protective Services (WPS).

Ms. Cabus holds a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, PA and a Master's of Military Studies from Marine Command and Staff College, Quantico, VA.

Ms. Cabus is native to Manchester, CT. and currently lives in Springfield, VA. She is married to Edward A. Cabus. They have three children.

